My name is [name of enumerator] and I would like to interview your household for a survey that is being conducted by researchers from the Center for Economics and Social Development (CESD), Michigan State University and the International Food Policy Research Institute. This survey aims to provide researchers with a detailed understanding of rural livelihoods in Shan State and carry out analyses to assist policy makers in identifying policies to promote welfare in Myanmar. I3. SHIFTING CULTIVATION

STATIC TEXT

Shifting cultivation is a form of agriculture in which land (often forest in hilly areas) is clear by cutting and burning. Crops are planted on the newly cleared land for 2-3 years until the field becomes less productive or too weedy. When this happens, the field is fallowed and allowed to become forest again. In the future, when the forest has grown back, it may be cleared for cultivation again.
